

Contacts

Now that you've gone through the setup, you can now start using Skype. First, let's go over contacts.

The contacts on Skype are just like the contacts on your phone or phonebook. You will need to add someone's contact and have them accept you if you want to communicate with him/her in anyway. To add a contact; look over to the side of the menu, press on add contact. Adding a contact will give you all access to features such as Calling, Video Chatting, and Text Messaging. You cannot do these things if your contact does not accept your request.

If you have a lot of contacts, you can create a group to organize yourself.
